WARTBURG COLLEGE

WAVERLY, IOWA

Foreword

Within these pages of the FORTRESS '58 there is something more than pictures and black type. This book is a monument of memories of Wartburg College and of Waverly, Iowa, both of which we have grown to love in our stay here.

Waverly, this is the small town in which we have made our home during our years at Wartburg. Its people have become our neighbors, its streets have become familiar, its churches have welcomed us to their services, and its shops and stores have catered to our whims.

In this environment we have watched campus buildings rise from the ground like flowers after a spring rain. New stores, churches, and homes have taken body and form before our eyes. The college and town have expanded and prospered together.

The town has opened its doors to us, and we have opened ours to it, both have benefited. We have worked out our problems, our fears, and our doubts, with our faith in the Almighty being steadily strengthened.

Turn with us the pages and reminisce. Recall the memories of your happiest happiness, your most joyful joy, and the strength of your strongest faith. Remember from the pictures, the type, and the dashes of the artist's pencil that this is a story of your life at Wartburg College in Waverly, Iowa, in the year of our Lord 1957-'58.

Dedication

Miss Helen Wright

Devoutly she receives her pleasure
From God's creations, not her own.

Seeing a spark, she draws it from the soul,
Nourishes it . . . helps it grow and flourish,
Watches it transferred to clay and canvas
—An artist is born.

Interpreting for us
Works of the greats, gone before,
Opening for those who would see
The soul of him who wrought it.

Each day is brightened
By some new insight gained.
Her name is here inscribed
That she may know our appreciation.

ADMINISTRATION

Dr. Becker

President C. H. Becker . . . Ever Present

Who is that man called President C. H. Becker?

Look around. He is present in every nook and cranny of Wartburg College. You can see his face etched on all the buildings on campus -- Centennial Hall, Knights Gymnasium, Student Memorial Union, Fine Arts Center, the new men's dorm, and his face is etched on the plans of the library, a science building, and countless other dreams.

It is etched on every good grade earned by a student. Not only buildings, but academic standards as well are built. Thinking is stimulated when standards are raised.

You see his face on every page of every book pulled from the shelves in the library as he envisions bigger and better things for this college -- his college.

Look around. You will find him and perhaps understand him when you look at yourself at the end of your sojourn here.

Serving Loyally

Dr. G. J. Neumann

Mr. H. C. Engelbrecht

Forty-seven years of service and inspiration have been dedicated to Wartburg by quiet and unassuming Dr. G. J. Neumann. Besides serving as chairman of the Division of Languages and Literature, he is college vice president. Each year this eminent senior citizen and counselor continues to endear himself to the college community by adding touches of warmth, such as his annual Christmas readings.

Busy and bustling H. C. Engelbrecht, better known to Wartburg as "Uncle Herb," is never too occupied to wave a cheery "Hi" to those he meets. Serving in the capacity of assistant to the president as well as business manager, he has his hours well filled. Observing his efficient and friendly manner, we can reach only one conclusion, "Uncle Herb" is an integral part of Wartburg College.

BOARD OF REGENTS -- Front row: Dr. W. L. Young, Mrs. H. Graven, Mr. W. Voecks, Pres. C. H. Becker, Mr. F. Lentz, Mr. W. Voigts. Back row: The Rev. L. Sherer, Dr. G.

Schultz, The Rev. D. Kilgust, Dr. L. L. Belk, The Rev. H. C. Schiffler, The Rev. E. Schlachtenhaufen, Mr. F. Miller, Mr. E. J. Spomer, The Rev. W. C. Langholz.

Faculty . . . Stimulating Pursuit of Knowledge

"The highest function of the teacher consists not so much in imparting knowledge as in stimulating the pupil in its love and pursuit." This is truly the objective of each faculty member here at Wartburg.

Fifty of the instructors hold full-time positions, two share a part-time schedule, two work as private instructors, and the remaining two maintain a leave of absence. Three faculty members were this year promoted. Mr. Robert G. Smith was ranked as assistant professor of speech, Mrs. Florence Hertlein became assistant professor of political science, and Dr. Leo Petri was ranked as full professor of biology.

Seven new members of the faculty include Miss Mary E. Anders, piano instructor, Mr. John W. Jewell, instructor of biology and chemistry, Mr. Thomas O. Kay, history and political science instructor, Mr. Ronald R. Ryder, instructor of biology, Dr. Edilberto K. Tiempo, associate professor of English, Dr. Lotus Knief, assistant professor of psychology, and Mr. Vernon A. C. Lestrud, speech and drama instructor.

Many facilities have also been added to the campus. New offices and a mimeograph room in Luther Hall are but a few of the improvements that have made for greater efficiency.

BOB MILLER KEEPS up on world affairs in the library reading room.

MEMBERS OF A freshman history class show varying degrees of interest as they watch slides during a make-up session.

"Philosophy is one thing, and Christianity quite another. -- The former seeks to cure the vices of human nature by working upon the head, the latter, by educating the heart. -- Both endeavor to lead men to what is right; but philosophy only explains what it is right to do, while Christianity undertakes to make men disposed to do it." --

The relationship between religion and philosophy exists through subject matter, methods, initial assumptions, and goal sought. This represents, in part, the Christianity Department. Whether one hears inspiring speakers in the chapel, at convocation, or in the classroom, or engages in private counseling, he becomes mindful of the spiritual satisfaction and guidance that he can obtain.

Yes, this division strives to bring us closer to God, to the truth, and to an understanding of the relationship between the courses we take and the goals that we ultimately seek.

"Friends, Romans, Countrymen . . ." or "Wie geht es Ihnen?" are familiar expressions one may hear as he wanders through the Division of Languages and Literature.

English, American, and World Literature make up the varied courses in which poetry, essay, drama, novel, biography, or short story are included. Clear, correct, and effective expression are stressed by courses in writing in this division. These departments endeavor to impart an understanding of others, a knowledge of the surrounding world, and a well-rounded vocabulary.

The language section offers French, Greek, German, and Latin, both for vocational use and for recreation. These departments strive to teach the ability to speak, read, and write a foreign language with ease. To help the student, conversation and translation are used as much as possible. Another tongue in addition to our own helps to lift the language curtain between people of different nations and to create a greater appreciation of the historical background of our own country.

. . . Preparing Students

The Physical Education Department is important, as well as enjoyable, since it offers the opportunity to participate in various athletic activities, promotes sportsmanship, teaches the methods of instruction, and helps to maintain good physical health.

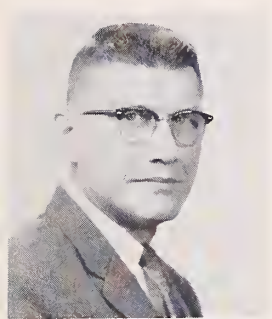

The aim of the Biology Department is stated by the chairman, Dr. Elmer W. Hertel, as follows: "Preparation of students for a general education to fit them for their particular profession and for the scientific world in which they are living."

New members of the faculty this year include Mr. Ronald A. Ryder, instructor of conservation, nature study, and general biology, and Mr. John Jewell, instructor of biology and chemistry. New additions of a microscope, slides, and other general equipment have helped to make the courses more meaningful.

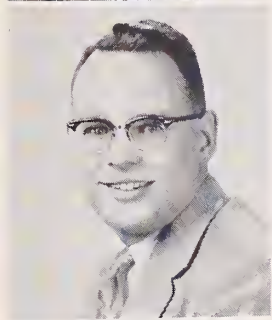

A BIOLOGY CLASS under the supervision of Mr. Jewell tries to find out who is the greatest potential talker by testing lung capacities.

The Division of Social Sciences, ably headed by Dr. Gerhard Ottersberg, is concerned with the study and practice of personal and social welfare. An observation and classification of facts is also maintained throughout the various courses. These include accounting, business administration, economics, history, home economics, political science, social work, and sociology. This year Mr. Thomas O. Kay was a new addition to the faculty as a history and political science instructor.

Beatrice Webb once said, "I believe that we already have a science of society -- a very young and very incomplete science, but one that is steadily growing and that is capable of indefinite extension."

. . . Keeping Abreast of the World

"Scientists! America must produce more scientists!" comes the cry from every corner today, and to meet this need is one of the goals of the Wartburg Division of Physical Sciences.

Dr. A. W. Swensen directs this crucial phase of college learning. Under his able guidance function the Chemistry, Physics, Engineering, and Mathematics Departments.

In the laboratories and classrooms of third floor, Luther Hall, men like Dr. John Chellevold, Mr. William Azbell, and Mr. Richard Wiederanders impart the scientific knowledge necessary for young America to keep abreast of the rest of the world in technological advancement.

At the end of another successful year of teaching and training, they may sit back to watch their former students as they go into positions in research and teaching.

. . . Realizing a Need

Realizing the great need for well-trained educators, the Division of Education and Psychology devotes itself to general education, subject-matter specialization, and professional education. Whether one majors in elementary or secondary education, opportunities are available to practice modern methods of teaching during regular class hours in the public or parochial schools.

"He that has found a way to keep a child's spirit easy, active, and free, and yet at the same time to restrain him from many things he has a mind to, and to draw him to things that are uneasy to him, has, in my opinion, got the true secret of education."--Locke.

Psychology is also important, whether one refers to the community or to the individual. This department concentrates on bringing one in closer contact with social and personal problems, adjustment, guidance, and testing methods.

The Division of Fine Arts represents a great deal to the students of Wartburg because useful knowledge, as well as entertainment and creativeness, can be derived from the numerous courses that it offers. Variety and skill also add their touch, whether one displays his talent by singing, by playing an instrument, or by acting, whether he views an art exhibit, debates a current issue, or listens to the latest collection of classical records. Here, one may become more proficient in teaching, in leading, or in pursuing an interest because of the many opportunities that constantly arise.

Everyone should take an active part and become acquainted with this department because through its teachings many of the finer things in life may be obtained.

CLASSES

Seniors . . . Meeting New Challenges . . .

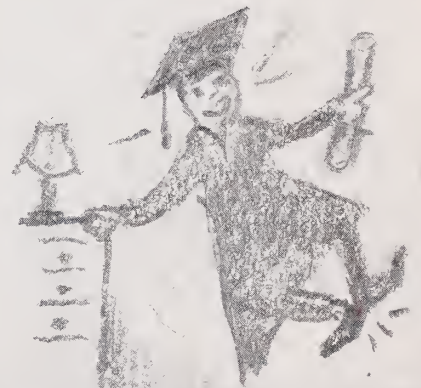

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS--Stan Vogel, pres.; Nancy Mista, treas.; Anne von Fischer, commencement chm.; Virginia Grimm, sec.; August Borchardt, vice pres.

"Four years . . . it hasn't really seemed that long," mused a graduating senior. "Well I remember those first few frightening days. Somehow I waded through a muddle of registration blanks, class assignments, and initiation rules. I'd never learned how to study in high school, and the teachers here were giving so much work. But out of all the disorganization, I guess I was becoming accustomed to college life.

"There were other bad times, too. Those barely completed term papers and pop quizzes have turned into pleasant memories by now. It seemed as if the end of the world were coming then. But there are many more memories -- maybe something small like singing the Loyalty Song after an unvictorious basketball game, or something big like landing that job I hardly dared hope for.

"Each year found some dropping by the way and a sea of new faces topped by green beanies. Each year there seemed to be more to do and less time in which to do it. And each year I was preparing for that last day of college. The time has come now. A new adventure lies ahead!"

. . . Equipped for Leadership

CAROLYN HINRICHS AND Audrey Walther practice for their recital in the choir room of the Fine Arts Center.

Who's Who . . .

This year's Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities will include seventeen outstanding seniors chosen by the Wartburg student body.

Student Body President, John Adix, is an arts-seminary student known for his achievements in basketball. He is a member of "W" Club and of Beta Beta Beta. -- Olinda Deines, music major, is active in campus organizations including Wartburg Choir, Student Senate, and MENC. Her versatility was also shown in Wartburg Players.

Another arts-seminary student is Frederic Downing. A sincere personality, Downing is president of Chi Rho. He is a member of "W" Club and has been active on the wrestling squad. -- Ann Finnern, an elementary education major, has displayed her art of leadership as president of Pi Sigma and Women's Coordinating Board. She is active in SEA, Ushers Club, and is a member of the Dorm Council.

FORTRESS Editor, Leonard Flachman, is an arts-seminary student. He is vice president of Alpha Phi Gamma, and a member of Chi Rho and of Hans Sachs. -- Sharon Folkerts, music major, has been active in musical organizations, serving as soloist in the Wartburg Choir. She has also been Spring Sports Queen and this year was Homecoming Queen.

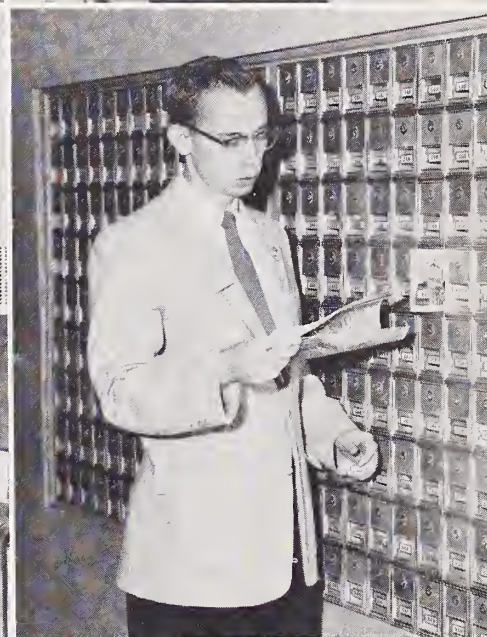

... Seventeen ...

Bruce Friedrich, station manager of KWAR, has also been chief engineer of the station and has served as president of Pi Beta Epsilon. His majors are chemistry and mathematics. -- An active organizational leader is Kay Fritschel, history major. She is president of Young Republicans, SEA, and has served on the Women's Coordinating Board. She is also a member of Wartburg Choir and has worked with the college publications.

Also active in organizations is Valeria Gerlt, English major. She is secretary of several organizations, including the Student Senate and the Executive Committee Cabinet. She has also served on the FORTRESS and Trumpet staffs. -- Chemistry major, Erwin Janssen, is president of the American Chemical Society. An ardent student in his field, he also was active in Wartburg Choir and on the FORTRESS staff.

A baseball and basketball letterman is Charles Maahs, an arts-seminary student. He is also a member of Chi Rho and is Student Body vice president. -- Ronald Mastin, music major, is best known for his singing voice. He served as soloist in the Wartburg Choir.

. . . Seniors

Past president of WAA, Nancy Mista, excels in women's athletics. She is a mathematics major and has been active in the Pep Club and SEA. -- Phil Moeller, arts-seminary student, has participated in track and cross-country sports, besides showing great interest in Student Senate, "W" Club, and Chi Rho.

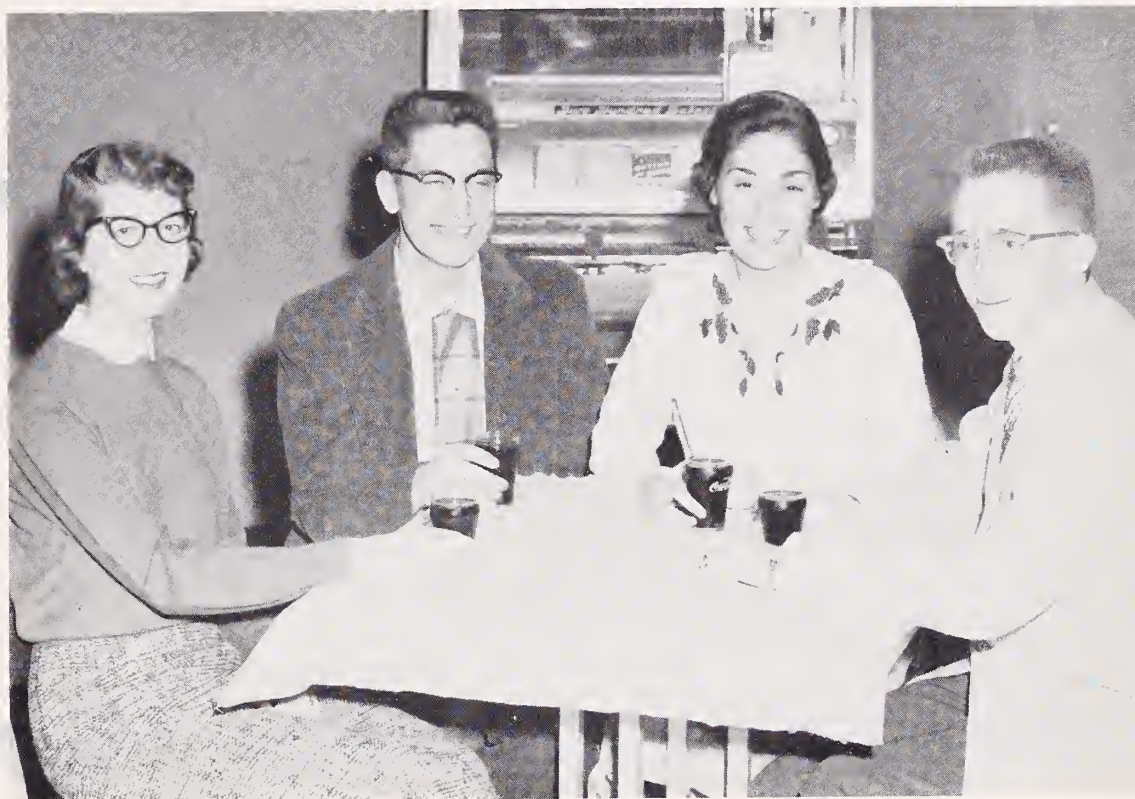

Two more pre-theological students include David Nelson and Stan Vogel. Nelson held the position of president of Castle Singers and served as member of the Student Union Council. Vogel is senior class president and belongs to "W" Club. Both are active in Student Senate and Chi Rho.

Concluding the list of seniors is Anne von Fischer, music major. She is a member of Wartburg Choir and Ushers Club, besides serving as secretary-treasurer of MENC.

Juniors . . . Stepping into the Limelight . . .

JUNIOR OFFICERS -- Lois Fritschel, treas.; Emil Blobaum, vice pres.; Elaine Schneider, sec.; Herbert Hafermann, pres.

The third year has drawn to a close for the members of the junior class. Many changes have come about in those three years. The class was the largest until then in the history of Wartburg when, as freshmen, its members occupied the bleacher seats on the main floor of the gymnasium during convocation. The next year as they moved to the balcony with the rest of the upperclassmen, they comprised the second largest class.

Now as "old-timers" the juniors feel a sense of accomplishment as they view the first- and second-year students; however, the feeling turns to envy when they look at the seniors, who are completing work toward their goal.

The return to school this fall was no longer the dreadful experience it had been in the past. The juniors were anxious to rejoin their old friends and acquaintances after the three-month recess.

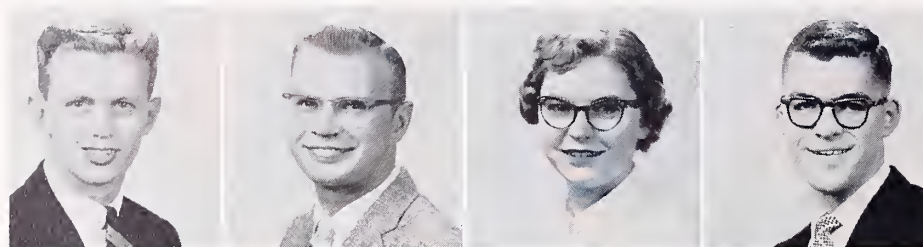

Registration and classes became more enjoyable, too, as class members were allowed to choose more electives in the place of the previously required courses. Juniors came to rely more and more upon their advisers as academic problems became more frequent.

During the year the junior class sponsored an "Autumn Dance" following the Homecoming Banquet. The class also sponsored the annual Junior-Senior Banquet in the spring. With this fitting climax to their third year, the juniors look to their final year in college for the accomplishment of a long-sought goal.

Sophomores . . .

Unerring Guides of the Squires . . .

The beginning of the school year found the sophomores eager to introduce the freshmen to the Wartburg campus. Perhaps the greatest contribution of the class was to affix the name "Squire Days" to initiation, thereby carrying out the theme of the Knights. "Squire Days" were culminated by the traditional Kangaroo Kort, which resulted in creating a friendlier atmosphere between the freshmen and the upperclassmen.

Headed by Norm Litzner, president; Jim Munter, vice president; Marian Chatfield, secretary; Sandy Sekas, treasurer; Shirley Ehlert, Larry Stumme, and Roger Schneider, senators, the class sponsored a successful dance the first semester. During the second semester the sophomores held an ice skating party.

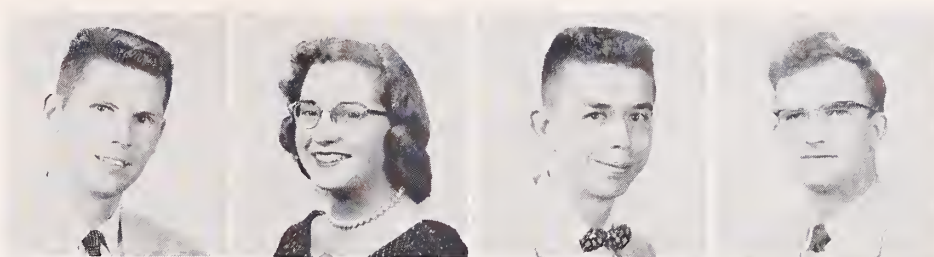

As the sophomores look back over the year just completed, they have many happy memories of campus activities which they either took part in or attended. However, dorm life with its strenuous but never-to-be-forgotten happenings is just as memorable. This is especially true for the large number of two-year graduates who have completed their college careers.

. . . Entering Gates of Knowledge . . .

"It doesn't seem possible that the first year has already passed," commented one member of the freshman class. "Those first few days were petrifying. We were kept so busy too. It seemed that we would never come to an end of the new faces and names.

"Then, there was initiation -- 'Squire Days,' they called it. One thing is certain, we did learn the loyalty and fight songs. And what was that crazy little verse we had to recite as we bowed to the upperclassmen? 'Buttoning,' they called it, and the verse was? Oh, yes, 'Oh, most honorable upperclassmen, Oh most . . .'

"The classes really seemed hard at first, but we finally began to enjoy them, that is, after we had learned how to study. When we first came here, we never dreamed that we would be sitting up late so many nights with our heads bent over the books.

"Considering everything, it was a very good year. We made a great many new friends. There were many good times and many rough spots, but we have come to the end of our first year."

Student Senate... Voice of the Students

"What shall we do about the traffic problem?"

"Shall we continue the travel bureau?"

"Are we going to have a Campus Chest again this year?"

These problems and many similar ones faced the Student Senate this year. Representatives from each of the four classes investigated and discussed many of these problems. Led by John Adix, Student Body President, they sought intelligent and workable solutions.

A successful Homecoming dance was one of the many projects of the Senate. It was Wartburg's first, and it may be recorded as an accomplishment to be remembered.

As a service to the students, the travel bureau was continued, and "Chesty" returned as the symbol of the Campus Chest. An operating solution to the traffic problem was drawn up and handed to the administration to enforce.

The Senate has once more proved itself as the voice of the students in forming the policies of Wartburg.

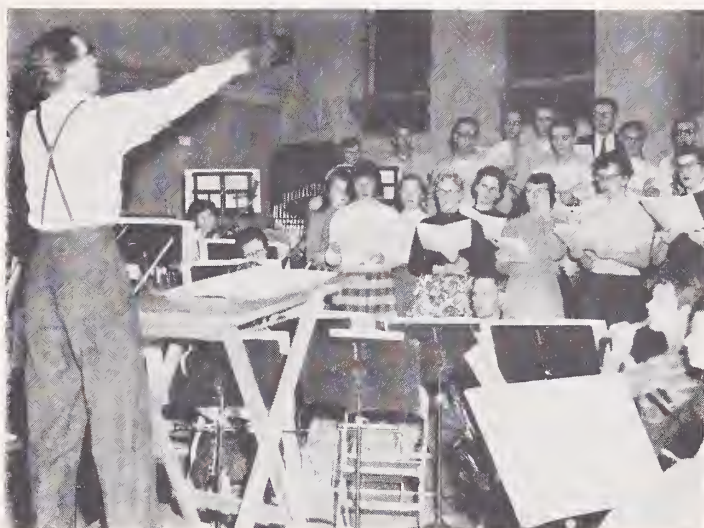

VAL GERLT DILIGENTLY takes the minutes as Student Body President John Adix brings up the new business. Norm Litzner, Bruce Bergquist, and Phil Moeller listen attentively.

Wartburg Symphony . . .

. . . "Symphony of Fun"

WARTBURG SYMPHONY CONDUCTOR Ernest Hagen gives the signal to begin to sing during one of the rehearsals.

The house lights in Knights Gymnasium dim . . . a hushed expectancy falls over the auditorium . . . Conductor Ernest Hagen raises his baton and gives the downbeat . . . the Wartburg Community Symphony Orchestra's "Symphony of Fun" opens the concert season for the sixth straight year. What had been but an idea a few years ago is now a reality. Farmers, school teachers, college and high school students, business and professional men . . . all from Waverly and the surrounding area . . . once again gather for rehearsals in their bid toward bringing culture to this community. These rehearsals terminate in a full season of concerts, featuring classical and semi-classical music.

Conductor Ernest Hagen is the guiding spirit as well as the founding father of the orchestra. His expert programming . . . such as this year's American premier presentation of the Norwegian "Mote Ballade" . . . and masterful conducting are always a source of delight for Waverly music-lovers. We all share his hope that the Wartburg Community Symphony Orchestra will continue to be a source of pleasure for those who participate as well as for those who attend the concerts.

... Glory to God

It is five o'clock . . . Strains of music float through the air from the choral room of the Fine Arts Center . . . vocal music like that coming from a choir of angels singing their praises to the most high God.

It is the sixty-voice minister of music, the Wartburg College Choir. This is the instrument of witness that elevated the hearts and souls of congregations throughout five states as it toured for seventeen days through Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, and Michigan.

The Wartburg family and the Waverly community were enraptured by its melodious sound as the choir presented its home concert. With soloists Sharon Folkerts, Keith Lunde, and Ron Mastin, the choir raised its songs of admiration and praise to the new-born king during the "Christmas at Wartburg" production. Under the direction of Dr. Edwin Liemohn, the choir filled the hearts of the congregation of St. Paul's with praise for the Redeemer.

This musical group was privileged to sing two concerts in Central Lutheran Church in Minneapolis, Minn., for the Lutheran World Federation Assembly. It presented as its spring concert an oratorio by Mendelssohn entitled "Saint Paul."

The daily practice sessions opened and closed with a prayer asking for guidance and support in the choir's mission, its message . . . a message in music.

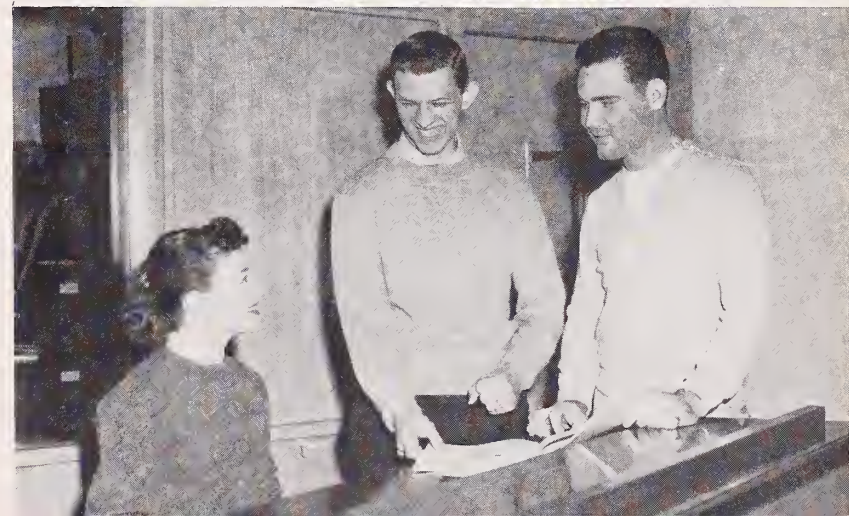

DISCUSSING THE ACTIVITIES of the choir are Rosemary Rhein, secretary-treasurer, and Duane Matz, vice president.

Castle Singers . . .

This year was an unusual one in the history of the Castle Singers. For the first time they presented a complete musical comedy. The fact that the story, lyrics, and music were all written by their director, Dr. E. A. Hovdesven, made the undertaking even more exciting.

Because the production was to be taken on a tour through Wisconsin and Minnesota, work on set building, lighting, costuming, and casting had to be started early in the year. With the help of members of Wartburg Players, the technical difficulties were bridged, and the show was given a delightful production.

But this was not the only interest of the Singers this year. With the Wartburg Symphony Orchestra, the group helped present the American premiere of the contemporary Norwegian composer Groven's "Mot Ballade." They also sang for convocation, Brotherhood Institute, "Christmas at Wartburg," Kastle Kapers, and for church services at St. Paul's.

The year was climaxed by the performance of Dr. Hovdesven's musical, "The Legend of Lac Qui Parle," at Knights Gym on Baccalaureate Sunday evening.

Wartburg College Band . . . Echoing Sound . . .

This is the story of a sound, a sound that began during the opening week of school and hovered in the campus air until the year's very end.

Perhaps the beginning of the sound contained an occasional squeak of offbeat toot as new members auditioned for vacated chairs and returning veterans warmed up their horns after a summer of little or no use.

Soon, however, the sound began to take shape as Mr. Ernest Hagen strove to gain perfect harmony between melody and marching feet.

On October 5 the sound was heard in its public debut as the marching band in all its color added halftime life and sparkle to the Buena Vista football game.

Throughout the autumn season the band continued to fill the air with exciting sounds of rousing music at football games, even overcoming the Asian Flu bug to put on a spectacular Homecoming halftime show.

At Christmas time the sound became more quiet and reverent as it echoed artistically through Knights Gymnasium for "Christmas at Wartburg."

Part of the old spirited football sound was heard again during the winter months as the pep band blared approval to Knight victories, both at home and on some of the road trips.

DIRECTOR ERNEST HAGEN gets set to open rehearsal as the band prepares for its spring tour.

. . . Quiet and Reverent

In springtime the sound was at its best. It carried around the Middle West on the concert band tour -- to Minnesota, South Dakota, and to Nebraska.

Then the sound came home to Knights Gymnasium again and the annual spring concert. Parents, students, and local residents listened and found it pleasing indeed.

Only the graduation ceremonies themselves silenced the sound for the year, but even then the echoes linger on.

LISTENING TO PRE-REHEARSAL instructions are Evelyn Helms, Charles Matthias, Eugene Moll, and George Lueder.

MAJORETTE JANE HOLZEN prepares to lead the band onto the football field for the halftime maneuvers.

... Fostering Christian Spirit

Chi Rho Constitution states in Article II, Section I, "The objectives of Chi Rho shall be to study problems pertaining to the Lutheran ministry as a profession, to foster a proper Christian spirit among its members, and to co-operate with the religious program of the college."

Since it is the purpose of the Chi Rho Society to teach and inform its members in order that they might become better ministers, regular monthly meetings were held through which they became acquainted with the vast area covered by the Christian ministry and the various problems which will face them as servants of God and of the church.

One of the most informative meetings of the year was a presentation of the chaplaincy by Dr. Milton Koult of Des Moines, Iowa, a former Navy chaplain. To broaden their scope, Chi Rho members were urged to visit Wartburg Seminary at Dubuque and to participate in the extensive program of visiting churches in the surrounding communities.

But the constitution implies that becoming informed is only part of the Chi Rho program. A keynote is struck in the field of service. Many Chi Rho members gave sermonettes at evening chapel. To promote private worship, the group distributed booklets to the students. Each weekday evening at 9:45 a Chi Rho member presented devotions over radio station KWAR-FM. Preceding Christmas vacation, the organization sponsored the annual Christmas Candlelighting Service, which was open to the public as well as to the Wartburg family.

Service to the community played a prominent role in Chi Rho projects. Ushering at the eight o'clock Sunday worship service at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, conducting Wednesday evening devotions and visitations at the Bremer County Home, holding Sunday devotional periods at the Lutheran Children's Home, and calling on the sick at surrounding hospitals gave the Chi Rho members an excellent opportunity to serve in Christ's name.

Members of Mission Fellowship are an active group interested in contributing their time and talent to strengthening and extending the work of the Lutheran Church.

Attendance at one of their meetings brings a feeling of fellowship with Christ, as well as with fellow members.

Besides hearing interesting speakers from foreign countries, they participate in various activities, such as making scrapbooks, collecting stamps, visiting hospitals and county homes, and sending supplies and money to a mission in New Mexico. Because they have done it unto the least of their brethren, they have done it unto Him. They are truly witnessing for Christ.

"Activity" and "Service" are the key words in the program of Phebes. The name of this organization is taken from a woman active in the work of the early church. As a servant of the church, she is recommended by Paul to the church in Corinth.

The club is designed for girls who are planning to become Christian day school teachers or parish workers. These girls undertake such projects as hospital visitations, shut-in visitations, radio devotions, playing the piano for chapel, and county home visitations. These opportunities for service form a bond among the members, a bond to their church and a bond to their God.

Service to God through service to their fellow man is their motto.

Members of the Passavant Club share an interest in building up and improving their knowledge of the vast and interesting field of social work. They believe in the importance of the individual, and their social activities prove this to be true.

The name of the club is taken from the Rev. William A. Passavant, who pioneered the deaconess movement of the Lutheran Church in America. How grateful we are to him, for now efforts can be made to help relieve the conditions and problems that confront our society today.

Primary purpose of the Lutheran Student Association, newly reorganized this year, is to unite students in spiritual and intellectual growth and to provide fun and fellowship for those who wish to participate.

The LSA reception for new students during the first week of school started the college year off well. Throughout the year following, the group enjoyed a number of fellowship suppers. At one such supper the LSA district president was introduced to the group.

Many members and friends enjoyed an evening of fun and relaxation at the LSA bowling party and coffee hour. Some attended the district convention and contributed greatly to the success of the spring Ashram, which was held at Camp Ingawanis.

Programs ranging from panels to a symposium filled out the year for the organization.

. . . Voluntary Service

Fourteen Wartburg students gave the past summer to the Lord as Parish Mission Builders, a volunteer program of the American Lutheran Church, now in its third year.

Serving in congregations from Ohio to Oregon, from Canada to New Mexico, their work of survey and evangelism calling afforded opportunities to witness for Christ to hundreds of people in almost as many situations. These students, strengthened through Bible study and guidance from the pastors, were able to tell many persons about Christ as their personal Savior.

Along with the daily calling, numerous programs were given, youth groups were organized, and the evangelism programs of the congregations were strengthened in service to Christ. All of these activities, with the time spent in recreation and relaxation, made a full and memorable summer for the Parish Mission Builders.

WAF . . . Interest in Foreign Affairs

World Affairs Forum once again experienced an interesting year. Meeting once a month in Wartburg Hall, members hashed out vital international problems over their customary cup of coffee. Socialism, Communist China, and Sputnik are just a few of the problems discussed.

A United Nations atmosphere was evident with Forum members representing Africa, China, Canada, Denmark, Turkey, and, of course, the United States, thus giving the organization an international flavor.

. . . Story of a Year . . .

FORTRESS EDITORIAL BOARD, Leonard Flachman, Miss Margaret Wolff, Larry Everett, Dennis Dickman, and Phyllis Haglund, meets once every week or two to check progress and to take care of important business.

You are holding in your hands the 1958 FORTRESS. To you it may be just another book, but to those of us on the staff it is a year of our lives. A year of hard work and fun, of worry and enjoyment, of exasperation and thrill, all mixed up in the same cluttered little office.

These 184 pages with a front and back cover mean a year of projection into the heart and soul of Wartburg -- trying to find that which means the most to the students and to record it here.

THERE ARE THOSE for whom we shall always hold the deepest respect and the greatest admiration -- those who stood behind us to push, those who stood beside us to help, and those who stood before us to guide.

. . . In Pictures and in Words

With the "do's" and "don'ts" of yearbooking neatly packed away in her head, our adviser, Miss Margaret Wolff, lived this book with us. Her patience and unselfish donation of her time are greatly appreciated by us and will be by you also as you find in this book a reminiscence of Wartburg 1958.

With the masterful strokes of her brush and pen, Miss Helen Wright, art adviser, retouched some of our photography, and her skillful eyes pointed out weaknesses in the art work.

One of the stronger spokes in our wheel, associate editor Larry Everett, cheerfully assisted in tackling problems of layout, production, and organization.

Many of the grubby little tasks were assigned to Phyllis Haglund, associate editor. Her touches of wit and humor ignited the little office with a touch of laughter.

PHOTOGRAPHERS DICK JAMES and Ed Scharlau spent many long hours taking, developing, and printing the pictures which you find in this book. Willingly, they went out to retake and to reprint pictures that had been rejected.

Protectorate of the money bags, Dennis Dickman, spent long hours collecting and soliciting advertising, so that our bills could all be paid.

With the skillful dashes of his pencil, John Solem brightened the book by presenting a few glimpses of Waverly.

To many others we owe a vote of thanks: those who typed their fingers to the nubs, our roommates and friends who put up with us when approaching deadlines applied undue pressure, all those who threw bits of encouragement our way throughout the year.

We only hope that our efforts may be enjoyed by you, our judges and critics.

ED SCHARLAU FINISHES taping a picture on the wall as Dick James waits to copy it.

DISCUSSING FINAL ART work are Miss Helen Wright, art adviser, and John Solem, artist.

To most students Saturday is a day of rest or work -- the end of the week. But to the Trumpet staffer, Saturday is the culmination of a week of activity leading toward one goal -- Saturday's paper.

It all begins on Sunday evening when Editor Harold Kurtz starts the weekly publication rolling by tacking up the assignment sheet on the Trumpet bulletin board. It doesn't end until circulation manager Harv Groskreutz sends out the last mail subscription on Saturday afternoon.

Hard work, long hours, and lots of fun go into each of the thirty issues as staff members toil to maintain the traditional "All-American" rating enjoyed by the Trumpet. Striving for complete campus coverage, the paper is constantly battling a tight budget against a news-filled campus.

Fighting the battle of the budget was business manager Mel Nass, assisted by Betty Meyer. Heading the ad staff was Don Bathgate.

On the editorial side, Wilbur Flachman and Duane Schroeder were leading mainstays as the two journalists exchanged jobs as sports editor and managing editor at the semester's end. Columnist Bob Loslo, of the popular "Knight

. . . Campus Journalists

FRIENDLY RIVALRY AMONG Wartburg's publications is often expressed in a good joke as representatives of each publication gather for the monthly APG meeting.

Traditional goal for campus journalists is the Beta Delta Chapter of Alpha Phi Gamma, national coeducational journalism fraternity.

Headed by Harold Kurtz as president, campus scribes continued to uphold high standards of Wartburg journalism. With service as a byword, APG'ers started the year by issuing the Student Directory. Also on the fall agenda were the annual Homecoming Alumni Breakfast and first semester initiation.

Other activities during the year included the Christmas Newsletter for alumni and open house for visiting high school journalists. Climaxing the year was the Press Banquet in the spring.

Other officers for the year included Duane Schroeder, first vice president; Leonard Flachman, second vice president; Marsha Starck, secretary-treasurer; and Carolyn Joseph, bailiff.

Major refreshing changes will be noticed in this year's edition of the college literary magazine. Upperclassmen will note that "Castle Tales" is no more -- in name, at least. One of the innovations of the 1958 editor, Larry Achorn, is the rechristening of the magazine as "The Castle."

"This was done to promote better unity between the three publications on campus," Achorn stated, "and also because the term 'Castle Tales' seems to indicate that only short stories are published. Poems, reviews, essays, and sketches are also included."

For the first time since the publication's inception in 1949, no illustrations will be used. An old idea to be revived by Achorn will be inclusion of some alumni material.

"The Castle" gives aspiring college writers the chance to have some of their literary achievements published. However, even though it could conceivably result in a smaller magazine, Achorn plans to include only the finest examples of Wartburg talent.

Although the campus radio station is taken for granted by many of the Wartburg family, it is interesting to note that few small liberal arts colleges of our type own and operate their own radio stations.

KWAR is supervised by the Speech Department but is completely managed and operated by students. Hence, the station provides excellent on-the-job training and education for all those interested in radio careers.

Music of all kinds, chapel and devotional services, news, sporting events, and educational programs, all originate at the 89.1 spot on the FM dial and play an integral part in the campus extracurricular program.

Pi Beta Epsilon . . . Interest in Radio

"No other organization on campus requires so much technical knowledge of its members," say the select few who have entered Pi Beta Epsilon, honorary radio fraternity.

Anyone seeking membership in this organization must first work for at least a year at KWAR, campus radio station. He must not only bask in the glory of doing a program but must also serve away from the "mike" in the engineer's booth, record library, or continuity department.

Entry into the fraternity is secured only after a series of initiation tests have proved the candidate to have adequate knowledge of all these phases of radio operation.

Wartburg's chapter served for the second year as the National Headquarters for this fraternity of radio enthusiasts.

PBE again this year strove to keep Wartburg radio at a high level of performance and to stimulate interest in radio throughout the campus.

Whether its members plan to pursue radio as a career or merely work at it as a hobby, when PBE sits down to discuss radio problems, it is a group that knows what it's talking about.

Alpha Psi Omega . . . Practicing Theater Arts

ALPHA PSI OMEGA -- J. Froelich, W. Melvin, R. Loslo, pres.; J. Pape, sec.-treas.

FRAEULEIN SCHNEIDER (KATHRYN KOOB) tells Jim (Bill Melvin) that he is too old to play games with his wife in a scene from the Christmas play, "Gift of the Magi," presented by APO.

Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatics fraternity on campus, came up with another busy year. Though small in number, APO members managed to carry out their intended purpose of promoting dramatic activities on the Wartburg campus. Whenever the odor of grease paint drifted through the air, members of the frat were sure to be found in the middle of the activities.

Although the year began with four APO members, three initiation ceremonies soon swelled the ranks to eleven. New members included Katherine Koob, Bill Melvin, Henry Flessner, Ron Korfmacher, Evon Wick, Louis Becker, and Kathi Frenz. Activities the week before and the night of APO initiation will be pleasant memories in the years to come.

Meeting in their clubroom in the Little Theater for a monthly business supper session, APO'ers found work enough to keep busy, even though their annual Children's Play could not be presented this year.

Wartburg Players . . . Acting . . .

WARTBURG PLAYERS -- Front row: B. Maximoff, Mr. Vernon Lestrud, adviser; W. Melvin, vice pres.; K. Koob, sec.; L. Becker, pres.; J. Tehven, treas.; R. Loslo, D. Oguzlu. Second row: J. Maroff, J. Becker, J. Froehlich, G. Mueller,

"At the top of the Greek theater you found the 'daeus ex mechane,' which was often used to solve difficult situations." Mr. Vernon Lestrud clearly explained the slide on the screen and then moved on to the next picture.

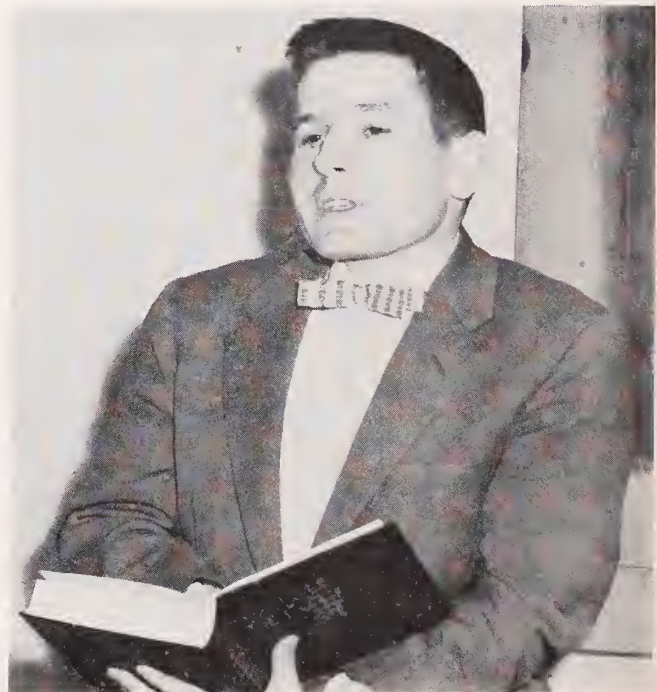

This exemplifies only a part of the wide scope of interest in the theater held by members of Wartburg Players. The group is made up of students who are interested in acting, directing, producing, and just plain appreciation of theater.

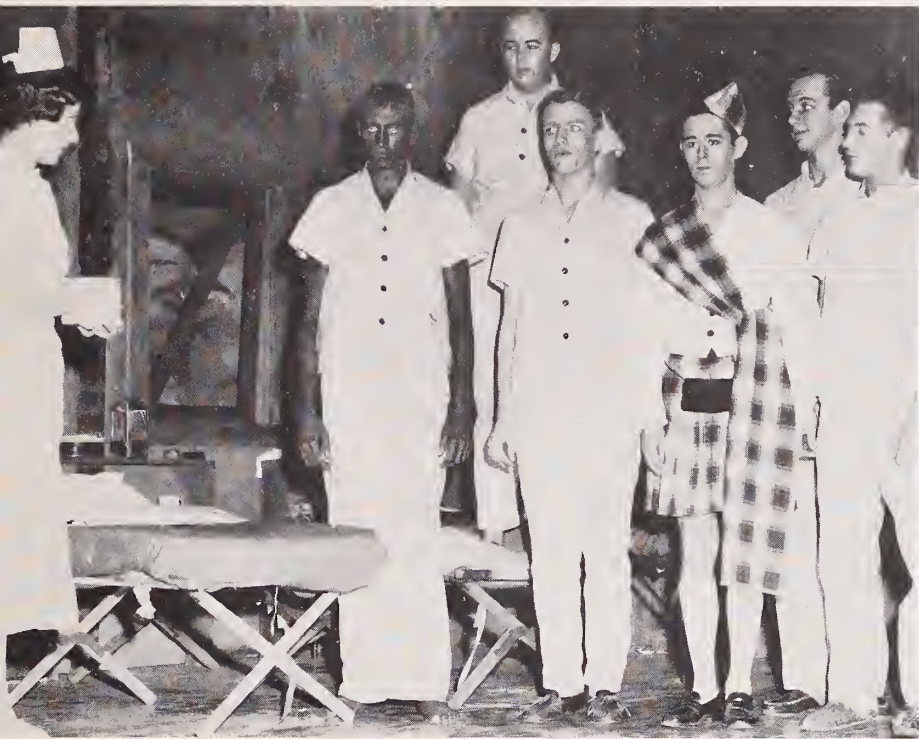

The monthly meeting of Players is not the place where the real work of the organization is carried on. It is not until a play is in production that the group carries on its active goal of furthering drama on our college campus. Members can be found on the stage crew, light crew, costume crew, and all the other necessary units in the production of a play as well as on stage in the role of actors.

Those who excel in Wartburg Players work have an opportunity to move on to the local chapter of Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary drama fraternity.

Long after the final curtain has fallen on the college careers of members of Players, the memories of seeing a still script brought to life through the work and the effort of their minds and hands will bring a feeling of satisfaction in a job well done.

Ushers Club . . . Voluntary Service

The magic hour is nearing. Quickly and quietly the patrons of the Wartburg College Artist Series are being guided to their seats.

In the lobby tuxedoed ushers direct the guests to the proper door. "Follow the usherette," is the word, once they are inside. A long line of courteous young ladies in formal dress is waiting to show the guests to their seats.

"Will you take seats four and five, please?" say the usherettes over and over again, as they strive to make everyone feel welcome at Wartburg.

After their season of voluntary service has ended, the young men and ladies once more don their formals and tuxedos to attend the Ushers Club annual spring banquet. They are no longer the hosts, but the guests of the Artist Series Committee.

Pi Sigma . . . Teaching Social Graces

The grace of a lady, sometimes called "class" by the fellows, is her general appearance, as well as the way she speaks, moves, sits, and stands. For each of these, there are ways suitable for different occasions. These are among the social graces that Pi Sigma strives to teach the young women who join the organization.

Not only are they taught the social graces, but they are given an opportunity to practice them through the activities sponsored by this organization.

A get-acquainted tea at the beginning of the school year starts the girls off on their year of social improvement. It is here that the freshman girls, through their Big Sisters, begin to see what it is that they have yet to learn.

A Pi Sig-sponsored Christmas dance was one of the high lights of the past year. It was here that some of the fellows were also given an opportunity to participate in learning the social graces.

The spring style show gives many of the girls in this organization an opportunity to model the latest fashions. At the same time all members have a chance to see the new styles in dress.

The programs held in connection with the meetings afford an opportunity for the girls to take as much away from the meeting as they are willing to learn.

"If America is to survive as a world power, drastic changes must be made in our system of education." -- "Education is living, not knowing." -- "Russian education is putting the USSR into the position of world leadership." --

Newspaper headlines screamed forth the startling words stated above. The United States overnight became more educationally minded than at almost any other time in history. Educators had long been aware of the need for a revamping of educational policies, but it took a chunk of metal orbiting around the earth to wake the general masses.

The future of education today depends a great deal on the quality of the teachers our colleges and universities are now, and will be, turning out. The Student Education Association recognizes the importance of our present situation and serves as one of the guiding lights toward better and more workable educational policies.

Miss Stella Austerud and Dr. Herbert Max, who serve as advisers to the organization, help plan interesting and varied programs dealing with problems that teachers will face when they enter the field. Information about the Wartburg Placement Service, given by Miss Mattie Harms, director, as well as talks prepared by students and guests, gave members some valuable facts.

Current trends in education are followed through publications of the state and national association with which the SEA is affiliated. Iowa news can be found in "Midland Schools," monthly magazine of the Iowa State Education Association, while trends of national scope can be followed in the NEA Journal, from the National Education Association.

Each year, further food for thought is furnished by sending delegations to regional and state conventions. There, SEA members find a chance to exchange ideas as well as to assimilate new information.

The Business Student Association, in its state of comparative infancy as a club, is a progressive group in the eyes of both the students and the businesses of the surrounding community.

The club has come into contact with many professional men and various fields of business through guest speakers. All guests have been warmly received. The members of this organization see great value in learning about the everyday transactions and problems of the business world. More important, the students understand more thoroughly how the theories which they are studying in college are actually applied in practice. For these reasons the club emphasizes the meeting as an essential part of the program, and the executive committee earnestly attempts to present top-flight speakers.

Membership in the club varies from those students who are the potential business leaders of tomorrow to those with only a slight interest in the business field. The group welcomes all new members and heartily encourages anyone interested to attend the meetings.

"Stille Nacht, Heilige Nacht, alles schlaeft, einsam wacht . . ."

This familiar Christmas carol and others rang out into the cold, still night to brighten the hearts of German-speaking people in Waverly as members of Hans Sachs participated in German caroling.

Among the other activities, the group sponsored the Martin Luther movie. This movie, depicting part of the life of the great German reformer, was shown shortly before Reformation Day and was open to the students and the community.

Highlighting the activity of the year was the spring picnic breakfast. Eggs and bacon were served on the banks of the Cedar River. The breakfast was followed by a worship service conducted in German.

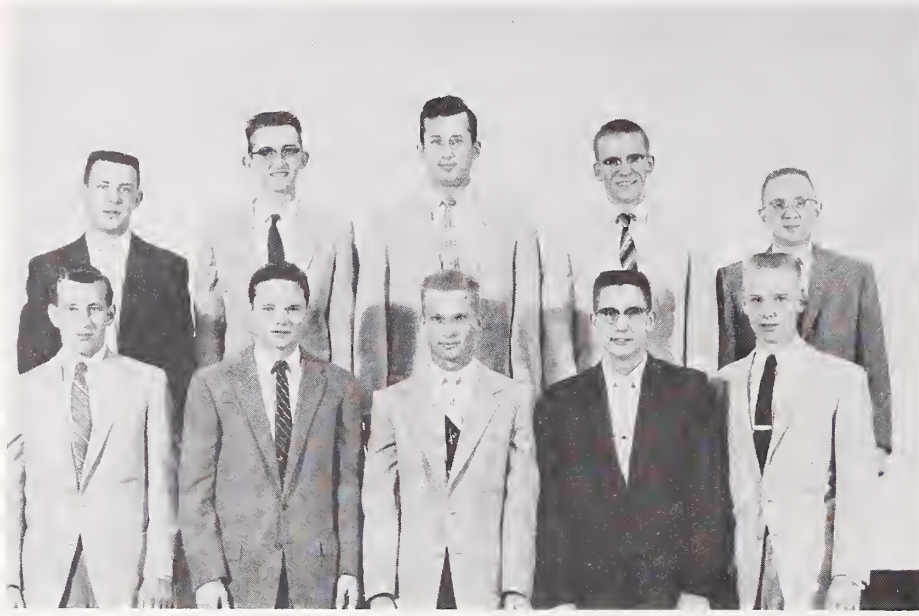

Other minor activities of the group included building a Homecoming float and engineering a carnival booth.

Since Hans Sachs is a German Club, it is open to any student interested in Germany and things German. It issues the invitation "Kommen Sie Alle."

Taking shots of models, viewing films of Wartburg athletic events, making improvements in the college darkroom -- these are just a few of the many activities of the Camera Club, which meets monthly during the year.

The Camera Club again took pictures of Homecoming events and sold them to fellow students. Funds received were used to buy much needed equipment for the darkroom, which is used by club members and other photographically inclined students. Camera work of club members was brought to meetings, where fellow members viewed and criticized.

The February meeting found Camera Club members taking pictures of popular coeds, who posed as models. Several other meetings were spent viewing movies of college football games. The films had been shot by the club's active adviser, Mr. Richard Wiederanders.

Young Republicans . . . Political Interest

The Young Republicans at Wartburg are a student organization formed under and in contact with the National Republican Party. While basically Republican in interest, the group tries to develop some degree of political interest in the student body as a whole. Members of the group and visitors at meetings hear political personalities from varying levels of governmental structure and are provided with occasion for intelligent discussion of timely political issues.

Debate . . . "Resolved, That . . ."

Long hours spent in research, reading, and practice go into making a good debate team. Even then, whether you win or not is up to the whims of a judge. But, victorious or not, debaters always enjoy the fellowship of teams from all over the state and elsewhere.

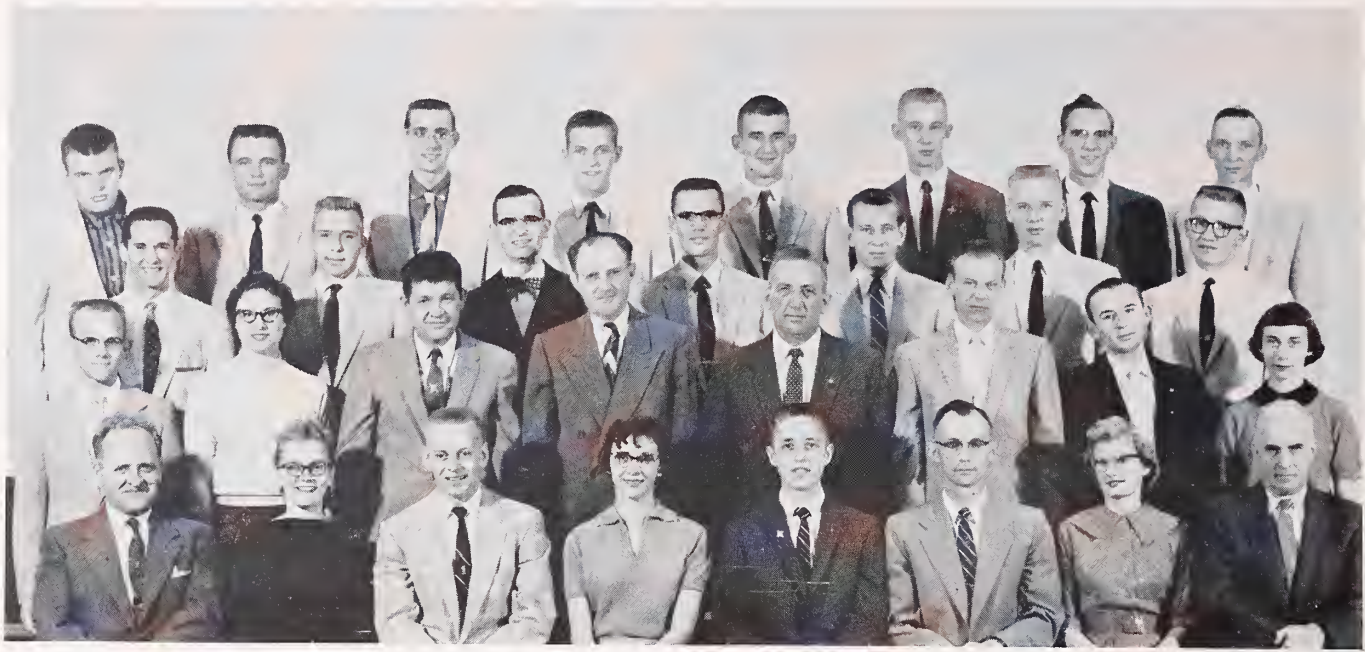

This year's intercollegiate debate question was "Resolved, That the requirement of membership in a labor organization as a condition of employment should be illegal."

Members of the team traveled to Cornell, Central, Grinnell, Drake, and Midland, Nebraska.

The Science Club continues to be one of the most active organizations on campus, featuring everything from field trips to movies to banquets. The club is open to students who have an interest in science, and it encompasses four fields -- mathematics, biology, chemistry, and physics.

Dick Chellevoid heads the group, which has its choice of adviser every year from a separate science. This year the chief adviser is Dr. Elmer Hertel from the Biology Department.

The annual banquet and field trip are spring affairs, which take place in March and April, respectively. Other programs this year featured Mr. Ryder giving a talk on Alaska, a movie entitled "The Universe," a lecture on cryptography (the making and breaking of codes) by Dr. Trimble of the Iowa State Teachers College Mathematics Department, a talk on Public Health by Mr. John Jewell, and a lecture on "Stress and Its Effect on Life" by Dr. Rathe of the Rohlf Memorial Clinic, Waverly.

Meetings are held monthly with an emphasis on variety of program. Usually no two programs from the same field of science are presented in consecutive months.

American Chemical Society . . .

ACS PRESIDENT, Erv. Janssen, speaks to members of the group at a Christmas party held at Dr. Swensen's home.

An April banquet was the highlight of the year's activities for Wartburg's Student Affiliate of the American Chemical Society. The eminent Dr. R. T. Tidrick, head of the Department of Surgery, State University of Iowa, proved a capable and entertaining guest speaker.

ACS lists a membership role of 20 for the past school year, most of whom belong to the national organization. The general programs for the society included a series of Bell Telephone TV-

Science movies, formal demonstrations, and various social activities.

Officers for the year were Erv Janssen, senior, president; vice president, Herman Hein; secretary, Barbara Bradle; treasurer, Dick Chellevold, all juniors.

Dr. A. W. Swensen, head of the Wartburg Chemistry Department and well-known among national ACS circles, is adviser for the affiliate.

Twenty-five Wartburg students make up the Gamma Lambda chapter of Beta Beta Beta, national biological honor society.

Criteria for Tri-Beta membership include a grade-point average in the upper half of the student body and a minimum of 10 hours' credit earned in at least three different biology courses.

Speakers featured at the monthly meetings are members of the various professions open to biology majors. Included among this year's speakers were a mortician and three people who spoke of their research studies on the coot, the nerve cells of the brain, and chicken viruses, respectively.

The climax of the year's activities was reached at the spring banquet at which new members were initiated. Dr. J. J. Kollros, chairman of the Department of Zoology, State University of Iowa, was the guest speaker.

WAA . . . Energetic College Girls

WAA is made up a group of energetic college girls who believe that sports activities are beneficial as well as enjoyable. They also share the view that winning is not always important, but that new friendships and the thrill of a game well played is even more rewarding.

Members of the Women's Athletic Association participate in such activities as badminton, ping-pong, volleyball, basketball, softball, tennis, tumbling, bowling, and trampolining. Tournaments for each of these sports always prove exciting.

The girls may earn pins, letters, and sweaters by accumulating points, which are given for a certain number of hours of active participation. Each year playdays and sportsdays are held in connection with women's athletic groups from other schools.

A spring workday is held to raise money for the activities of the organization. The girls wash cars, iron, wash windows, rake yards, and do other odd jobs.

Cheerleaders . . . Symbolizing Wartburg's Spirit

Chosen from the student body, the cheerleaders of Wartburg represented the warm spirit of the campus at its best. Whether it was the familiar "Go Ye, Knights" or "... Wartburg College ... Rah! ... Rah! ... Rah!" their voices provided the integral spark that urged on the Wartburg team.

From cartwheels to vociferous vocal support performed by this lively five, the spirit of the student body was infinitely bolstered.

The fond memory of pep rallies on the patio of Luther Hall or near the Homecoming bonfire would not have imprinted upon our minds had it not been for the able leadership of our cheerleaders. Truly it can be said that this select group -- at home or away, in victory or defeat, and in all types of weather -- symbolized the "determined to win" attitude of the Wartburg Knights.

Football . . . Freshman-Dominated Squad . .

Thirteen straight winless football games hung over the heads of Norman Johansen's Knights when the season opened, and prospects were dim for improvement. Then, like lightning, a fighting, freshman-dominated squad closed the door on highly favored Parsons 19-0, and Wartburg had laid the groundwork for one of the most rewarding gridiron seasons in history.

A large delegation of fans hit the road to Upper Iowa and saw the Knights smash to an early 7-0 lead in a quest to regain the Victory Bell. But then the potent Peacock passing attack derailed the Knights 19-7.

The home crowd cheered a week later as Wartburg bounced back into the thick of the conference race with a 21-6 thumping of Buena Vista.

COACH NORM JOHANSEN watches intently the actions of his team on the field.

... Promising Future ...

Loras came to town, and Wartburg faced a non-conference foe it had not beaten in four previous attempts. This was the year. The Knights notched two quick touchdowns on an early rampage and added a clinching safety in the second half, to win 15-0.

Flu hit the next week, and Johansen took an undermanned and physically weakened squad to Iowa Wesleyan, but the Knights responded, to eke out a 14-7 victory.

Homecoming, and the campus bubbled with excitement as hundreds of students and alumni saw the Spartans of Dubuque handcuffed completely by a terrific Knight defense that paved the way to a 13-0 victory.

Needing only one more victory to eclipse the school mark of five in one season, Knights moved to Central but found the Dutchmen too tough to handle and bowed 13-6.

Simpson was next, and the Redmen barged into Schield Stadium as though they owned it, riddling Wartburg's touted rushing defense through most of the afternoon. The Knights, however, struck potently through the air and were finally edged only in the last ten seconds on a Simpson pass, 20-13.

Out of the conference championship race by then, Wartburg journeyed to Luther for the traditional battle with the big and powerful Norsemen. Despite an early lead and one of their best all-around efforts of the season, the Knights fired under the pressure of Luther's over-all size and depth and succumbed 25-13.

The 5-4 record brought Wartburg back from last year's cellar position to fourth in the conference this year. Since the team consisted mostly of freshmen and sophomores, this record may be the tip-off for great things to come.

"IT MAY TAKE four of us," say the Knights, "but we will bring the man down."

Wartburg Knights added another winning season to the school record books, compiling a 16-9 record.

An 11-5 Iowa Conference record brought the Knights home in fourth position in one of the most rugged conference struggles in history.

For the second straight year the Knights received an at-large NCAA small college tournament bid. Traveling to Vermillion, South Dakota, for the tournament, the Knights threatened a highly favored South Dakota University team before bowing, 67-65. The Dakota Coyotes went on to the final round of the national tourney.

RECEIVING CONSOLATION MEDALS from South Dakota University athletic director for third-place finish in the NCAA regional tournament is Knight Coach Ax Bundgaard.

... Compiling 16-9 Record ...

In the consolation round the Knights slapped an 83-73 defeat on Gustavus Adolphus of the Minnesota Conference.

John Adix, who started every game for Wartburg over a four-year span, permanently etched his name in the record books by running his career scoring mark to 1,343 points. This surpassed by three points the school record set last year by Art Margheim.

The Knights opened the season fast by traveling to Minneapolis and trouncing Augsburg, 83-63, in a non-conference affair.

OPENING THE CONFERENCE, Wartburg walked to easy wins over Simpson, Dubuque, and Buena Vista. The first loss came before Christmas to Loras, 72-65, when the underdog Duhawks pulled the win in the closing minutes in Knights Gymnasium.

Wartburg finished second in the Tall Corn Tourney for the second year in a row by beating Luther, 88-76, in the first round but bowing to Iowa Teachers in the finals, 57-54.

Upper Iowa, eventual conference co-champion with Central, came from behind on Carl Moe's desperation shot at the gun, to down the Knights, 55-54, repeating a few nights later with a 70-68 victory at Fayette.

Iowa Wesleyan roared to an 87-70 victory at Mt. Pleasant, but the Knights broke even on the week-end road trip by stopping Parsons 63-59.

DUBUQUE'S STALLING GAME failed the Spartans after an early lead, and Wartburg notched a 43-28 victory before a bored home crowd.

Central's "Flying" Dutchmen and an injury to John Tuecke's knee brought the Knights to a fall, 69-54, and the beginning of a mid-season slump.

Winona TC pounded Wartburg 76-61, to add to the woes, but the Knights bounced back strong to break the slump and reeled off six victories in the final seven games on the road to the tournament bid.

Ax Bundgaard's crew completed the regular season by upsetting Central at Pella and knocking the Dutchmen into a first-place tie with Upper Iowa.

PUSHING A REBOUND back into the basket after a missed shot against Simpson is sophomore center John Tuecke.

... Fourth in Conference ...

PEERING INTO THE cage window to check out equipment for the last time are the four Knight seniors, Roger Klingman, Fred Jaspers, Mel Frahm, and John Adix.

UP FOR TWO goes big Fred Jaspers as Parsons cagers form a triangle around him.

"HOLD IT, BOY," says a Parsons player, but sophomore Norm Remmers pumps in a timely fielder.

EYES ON THE ball and intent on scoring a bucket, Gil Wessel drives down the sidelines.

Bob Campbell's hustling freshman squad shrugged off two opening defeats and came back strong to post a season's mark of seven wins and six losses.

The Squires played their most impressive basketball in the games following the two opening losses, when they reeled off five victories in a row.

Included in this streak was a 78-55 trouncing of a well-ranked Ellsworth Junior College squad.

Late season losses to Cornell and Iowa State Teachers College slowed the Squires, but both of these opponents were rated among the toughest freshman teams in the state.

Ralph Meewes led the freshman scores with 154 points and an 11.8 scoring average. He scored 29 points against Ellsworth JC.

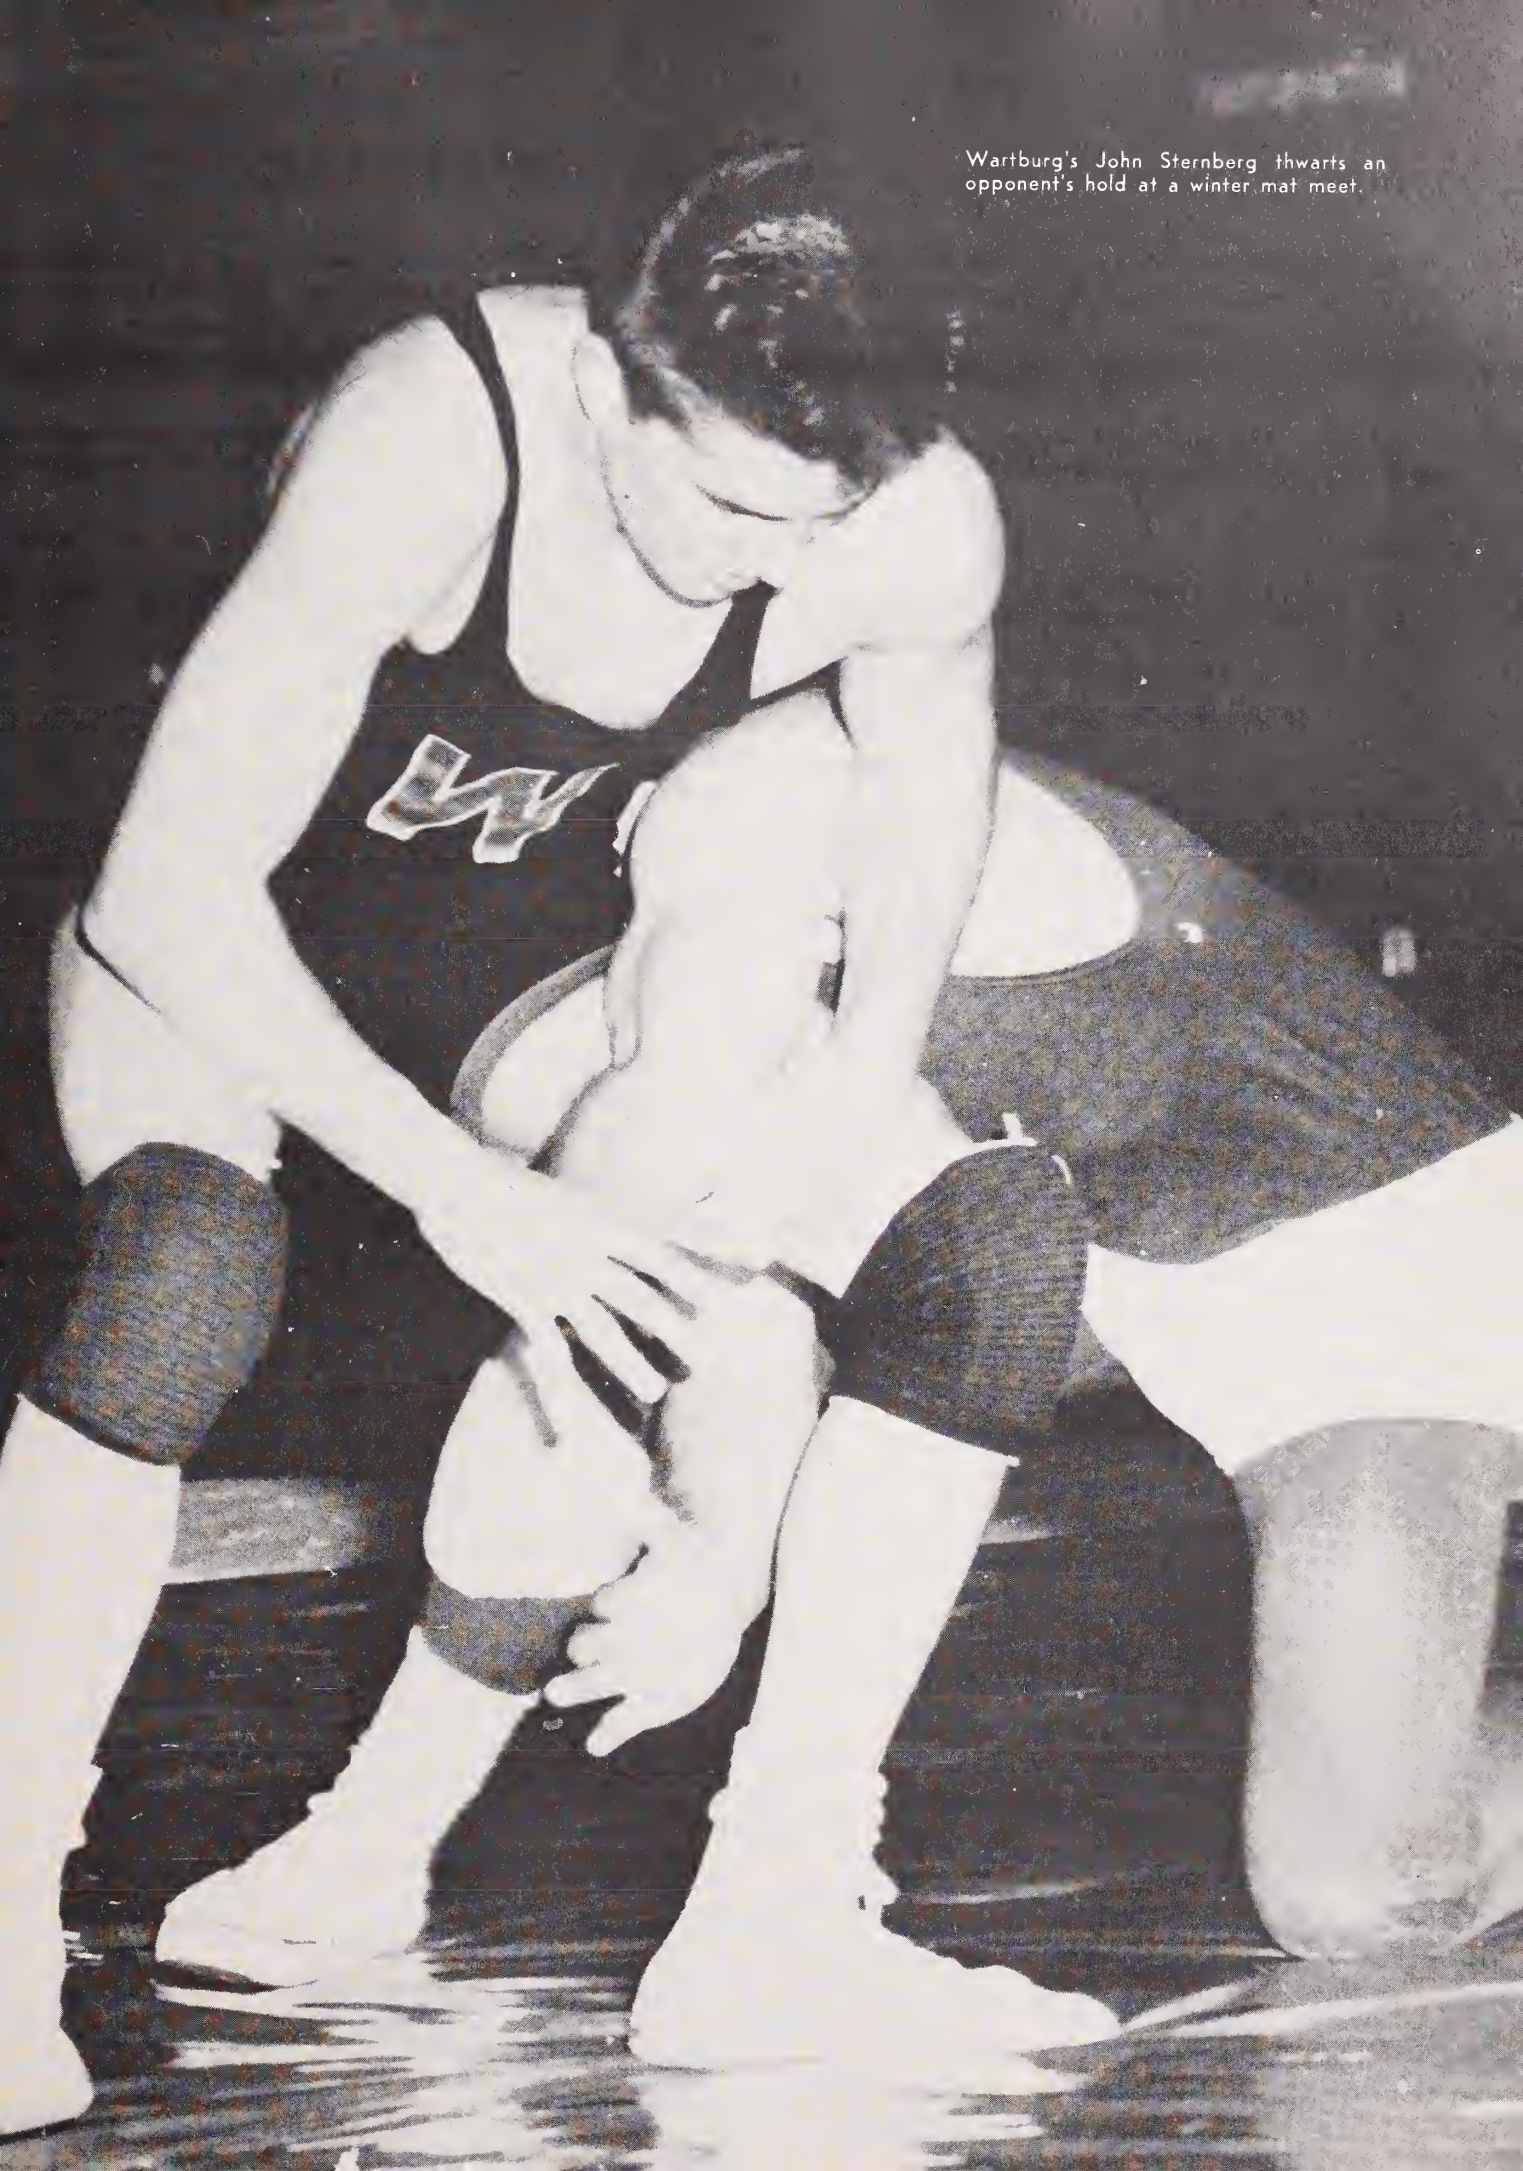

WITH EYES FIXED on the ball, Squires find the going rough as they meet Cotta.

Wartburg's wrestlers ended the season with a 5-4 won-lost record as victories and defeats seemed to come in bunches.

Norm Johansen's grapplers started off fast, brushing by Luther and Grinnell, but then went down to defeat three consecutive times at the hands of Omaha, Dubuque, and Augustana.

Bouncing back, the Knights won three in a row before losing an exciting final to Loras, 14-13.

Sophomore heavyweight Bruce Brye led the team in scoring with 25 points and fought his way to second place at Mankato, Minnesota, in the first NAIA small college wrestling tournament ever held.

Norm Friederichs and Dick Chellevoid also traveled to the tournament, and both lost in the consolation finals, to end up with fourth place in both the 115-lb. and 130-lb. divisions.

Baseball . . . Hot and Cold

Hot and cold hitting streaks featured the Wartburg baseball season as the Knight diamondmen compiled an 8-5 record.

Wartburg opened the season against a Grinnell College team that was playing its first game after a layoff of several years. Knight batters were hot and pounded out an 8-3 victory.

Simpson silenced the batsmen the next weekend, the Knights managing only one run while losing both ends of a double-header.

Hot again the next week, the Wartburg batters blasted Iowa Wesleyan's Tigers 8-2 and 9-2, but Parsons and Buena Vista held the Knights scoreless in the next two contests.

After a 7-2 loss to Luther, Wartburg diamondmen combined steady pitching and timely hitting to win five straight and complete a successful season.

Bill Bomhoff enjoyed a brilliant season in his swan song for the Knights by leading the team in five departments, including the batting championship, with an average of .436.

Fred Jaspers, right-hand workhorse, led the hurling staff with a record of 6-3. Hank Waltmann and LaVern Luepker both compiled 1-1 records.

T. Roach, W. Riggle, J. Ford, R. Beckman, L. Nelson, L. Schneider, M. Kirk, P. Moeller, H. Olesen, D. Boehmke, B. Streng.

Gaining their first dual meet victory in Coach Bob Campbell's two-year reign and establishing four new school records, Wartburg's young track squad gave indications of even better things to come in future years on the cinder paths.

Knights' dual meet victory came in impressive fashion when Loras was outraced 82-49.

High jumper Carl Anderson set two new school marks. He leaped 6'4" at Cedar Falls for a new school indoor high jump record and later cleared the bar at 6'2" for an outdoor standard.

Sophomore Bill Streng raced to a 51.6 record in the 440-yard dash before being sidelined by a late season injury.

Streng also combined with Bill Riggle, Phil Moeller, and Max Jansen to establish a new mile relay mark of 3:30.5.

Knights finished fourth in the Conference Meet, behind Luther, Dubuque, and Central.

WITH ARMS OUTSTRETCHED like the wings of a bird, LaMoine Jacobs clears the pole vault bar.

WARMING UP BEFORE a meet are Phil Moeller and Bill Riggle.

Wartburg's second season of cross-country competition saw the Knights fail to win a meet.

Bob Campbell's runners opened at home against Luther and were defeated by the Norsemen 26-29. Bill Riggle finished second, and Phil Moeller captured fourth for the Knights.

Moeller placed first in the meet at Loras, but the rest of the flu-weakened squad finished well back, and Loras won 23-25.

The last meet of the season at Cedar Falls saw a powerful Iowa Teachers team win 15-40. Riggle scored sixth for the best finish by a Knight.

Another meet scheduled to be run at halftime of the Homecoming football game against the Dubuque runners was postponed.

Despite its infancy at Wartburg, cross-country has gained recognition as a regular intercollegiate sport here.

Tennis . . . Ending Fourth in Conference

REACHING HIGH, Jack Warber prepares to drive his serve across the net.

Wartburg netmen started strong last spring with three consecutive victories and then survived a mid-season slump to compile a creditable 4-3 record.

Knights surprised a touted Iowa State Teachers team in the season's opener, 5-4, and looked invincible in turning back Loras and Simpson by identical 8-1 scores.

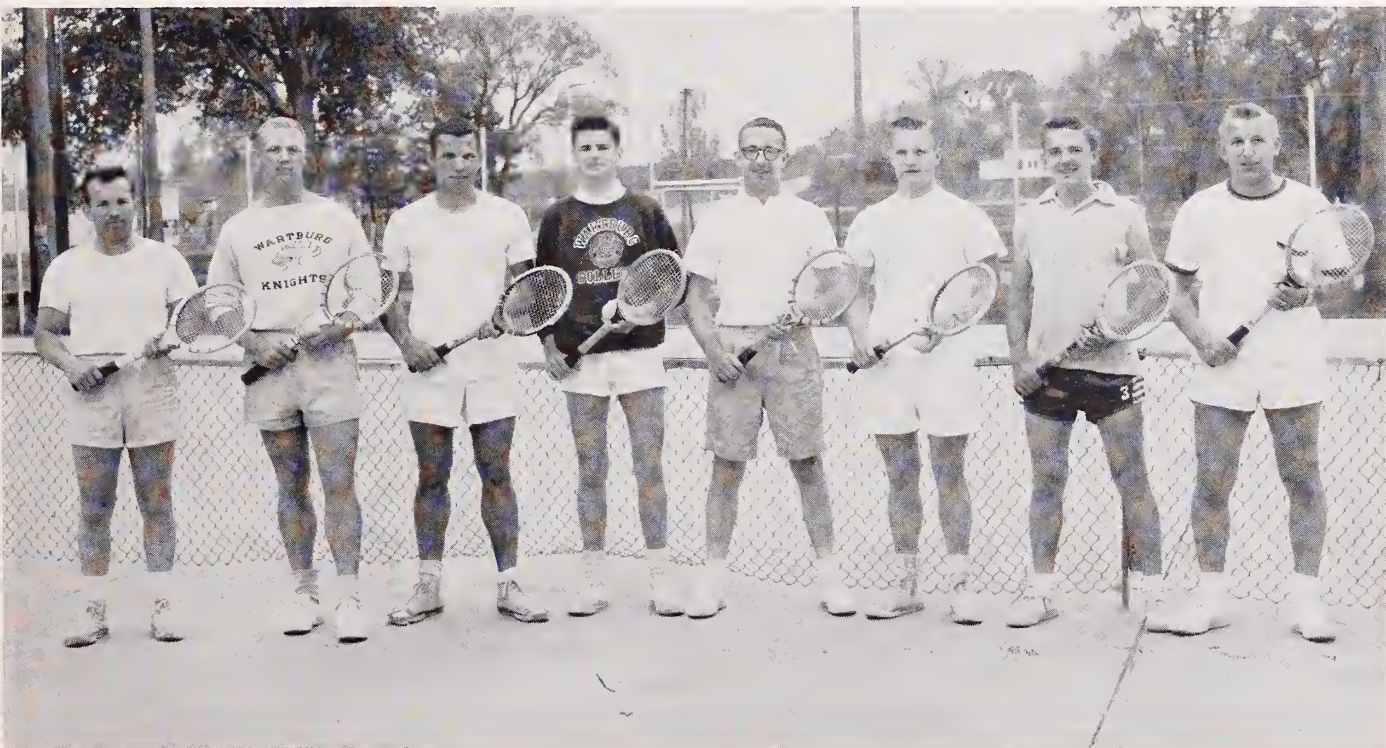

Luther's strong team, however, hung two stunning defeats around a revenge victory by ISTC, and only a final 4-3 squeeze over impotent Dubuque kept the Knights above .500.

Stan Vogel in singles competition and Bill Thalacker and Les Huth in doubles enabled the Knights to finish fourth in the Conference Tournament.

Norm Johansen's linksters climaxed an otherwise unspectacular season by upending the powerful Drake Bulldogs 7-5 in one of the biggest surprises of the Iowa College golf season.

Iowa State Teachers, Dubuque, and Loras were the big thorns in the side of the Knights during the season, as each rang up two decisions over Wartburg.

Knights gained an 8-7 victory over Luther in their first meeting, but the Norsemen reversed the score in the next outing.

Rockford College was the third victim of the Knights in a triangular meet won by Dubuque.

Recreation for Many . . .

Sounds of activity poured forth from Knights Gymnasium, sounds of whistles screaming, balls bouncing, and fellows yelling. A conference game, you ask? No, hardly. This is the intramural program set up for all students.

Nine different sports are included in this program, the most popular of which is coed volleyball. Others include tennis, golf, softball, wrestling, and track. The major sports are football, basketball, and bowling.

Desire to play and a small initial fee are the requirements for entrance into this program. The latter is used to purchase awards for the winning teams in each sport.

Under student heading and direction, intramurals take an important place in the recreation of many of the students who just "like to play."

Much of college life is living in a dormitory. At times you wish that you were living somewhere else. Such as the time you were studying for that big test which you had to take the next day, and the fellows down the hall decided that it was your turn to take a cold shower.

And certainly you girls remember the time that you wanted to go directly to bed when you came in. But your roommate insisted on telling you about the charms of the fellow she had been out with.

Have you forgotten all the noise that prevailed on the nights when you most wanted it to be quiet? And the people who came into your room on the nights when you most wanted to be by yourself?

But you wouldn't trade it all for anything else, would you? It's part of your life -- part of that which you have grown to love. You would have missed the fellowship, companionship, and comradeship had you lived anywhere else. You found it trying -- but great.

"The Rivalry" . . . Historical Drama

Drama came to the Artist Series stage on November 27 in the form of Norman Corwin's play "The Rivalry."

Paul Gregory's production of the historical drama depicting the famous Lincoln-Douglas debates starred Raymond Massey as Abraham Lincoln, Martin Gable as Stephen Douglas, and Agnes Moorehead as Mrs. Douglas.

Massey, famous for his interpretations of Lincoln, performed capably despite being ill with a high fever.

It was the lesser known Gable, however, who stole the show with his powerful and warming portrayal of the robust Douglas.

Miss Moorehead aptly filled the part of the beautiful wife, who was the inspiration behind Douglas.

A capacity audience rewarded the performance with a stirring round of curtain calls.

STARRING IN PAUL Gregory's production "The Rivalry" were Raymond Massey, Agnes Moorehead, and Martin Gable (not pictured).

Solisti di Zagreb . . .

ANSWERING QUESTIONS CONCERNING his Yugoslavian homeland is Antonio Janigro.

THE MASTERFUL TOUCH of Director Antonio Janigro brings out a bit of magic in each selection.

WARMLY GREETING MEMBERS of his audience, Antonio Janigro, director, is impressed with the praise given the performance.

. . . Bit of Magic

"I'm not sure just what I was expecting," commented one observer as he left the Knights Gymnasium, "but I enjoyed it thoroughly."

This and other comments like it circulated through the enthusiastic crowd on November 15, that memorable night when the Solisti di Zagreb made their first appearance on Wartburg's Artist Series.

Variety seemed to be the byword as these 14 talented musicians played everything from "Scherzo" by Fran Lhotka to melodies by Mozart. Under the capable direction of Antonio Janigro, their bows wove a bit of magic into every selection they played. Each performer was a virtuoso in his own right, but he blended with the others to give the impression of a single soloist.

Time may pass, but Wartburg will long remember the excellent Solisti di Zagreb and the wonderful music they made.

Philippe Entremont . . . Brilliant Pianist

FRENCH PIANO VIRTUOSO, Philippe Entremont, enraptures his audience during his performance at one of the Wartburg College Artist Series.

AUTOGRAPH SEEKERS Richard Ferries and Tom Kuhs have their programs signed by the piano soloist.

"... A brilliant musical mind to go with towering technique. He has the mark of the coming great one on him." An enthusiastic Waverly audience was inclined to agree with these words of Paul Hume, veteran critic, in describing Philippe Entremont, a brilliant French pianist who appeared on the Wartburg Artist Series December 1, 1957. Only 22 years of age, Entremont combined poise and versatility as he played numbers by composers ranging from Beethoven to the more contemporary Ravel and Faure.

The pianist opened the program with a polished interpretation of Beethoven's "Sonata in F Minor." The first section was closed with a delightful number, called "Papillons" (Butterflies), by the romantic composer Robert Schumann.

A familiar number in the second part of the concert was Ravel's "Pavane for a Dead Princess" (Pavana pour une Infante defunte). "Funerailles," a tone-poem by Franz Liszt, concluded the program.

Entremont's career is exactly five years old. He began his third tour of America after an extremely successful 1956-1957 tour which skyrocketed him to fame. Wartburg Artist Series patrons can well understand why this piano virtuoso has been widely acclaimed by critics and audiences, including those of New York, London, and his own native Paris.

Betty Allen . . . Mezzo-Soprano

Betty Allen's sincere smile and sparkling personality, as well as her rich, beautiful voice captured the hearts of Wartburg music lovers when she appeared here on the evening of January 21.

A mezzo-soprano, she opened her program with three numbers by Antonio Vivaldi. A familiar and favorite selection with the audience was "Habanera" from "Carmen" by Bizet. Dramatic interpretations of several Negro spirituals concluded her program.

Miss Allen's rise to stardom began in 1951 when Leonard Bernstein gave her a solo in his "Jeremiah" symphony. Previously, in addition to private tutoring, she had studied at Wilberforce College in Ohio and at the Hartford School of Music in Connecticut. A major role in Virgil Thompson's and Gertrude Stein's opera, "Four Saints in Three Acts," made her a sensation in both New York and in France. By 1955 Miss Allen's career had reached international proportions. Today her cheerfulness and vivacious manner are enjoyed by audiences throughout the United States and Europe.

DR. A. W. SWENSEN, chairman of the Artist Series Committee, introduces guest performer Betty Allen to President C. H. Becker.

MEZZO-SOPRANO BETTY Allen appears to enjoy singing for the Wartburg audience.

Roger Wagner Chorale . . . Warmly Greeted

Roger Wagner and the Roger Wagner Chorale

Hailed as one of America's finest singing groups, the Roger Wagner Chorale proved deserving of that record in the final Artist Series program of the year on March 18.

Featuring 26 voices and two pianos, the Los Angeles choral group opened the concert with "Ave Maria" and continued with religious numbers.

Changing the mood, the chorale next sang a group of folk songs taken from its list recorded for Capitol records in past years. Included in these were old favorites like "De Glendy Burke" and "Green Grow the Lilacs."

To conclude the concert, the dynamic French-born Wagner led the group in excerpts from "Porgy and Bess." The chorale is noted for its work on these numbers in the annual Gershwin Night at the Hollywood Bowl.

The audience greeted the group warmly and added another chorus of "bravos" to the rave notices this chorale has already received both in the United States and Europe.
